IV. REQUIREMENTS:
A. Regular class attendance (at least 90%).

B. A 4-Mat Reflection on four of the required texts due on assigned dates. To do the 4-Mat reflections (named for Bernice McCarthy's 4-Mat system) lay out your pages so that every pair of facing pages has these headings:

Right: Concrete Stories/Memories

Evoked by the Item

Reflection Expressed as Questions

Action: What I Must Do
Because of This

Here are some explanations/guidelines adapted from Dr. Donald Joy to help you get a better grasp of the four elements in the 4-Mat system.

(a) ABSTRACT: Simply summarize the content of the book in your own words. Include as many of the key concepts and ideas as you can. Strive to be both comprehensive and intensive. The abstract should be one singlespaced page if you are typing. If you are handwriting, your abstract should be 1 & 1/2 to 2 pages in length.

Remember that meaning making requires first that you transform the reading materials into your OWN words. Effective "note taking" is more than capturing another person's words; it requires transforming a communication into your own language and symbols. Use explicit and visible QUOTE marks to identify the author's words. All other written material not clearly cited should be your own constructions and abstracted summaries of what you read.

(b) CONCRETE: Describe one or two personal experiences which reading the book reminded you of. Be as specific and concrete as you can, including who, what, when, where details.

If you can connect what you are reading and hearing with what you have previously lived or observed, you will be profoundly changed by the semester. If you cannot connect the semester with past and present personal realities, you will never be able to teach or use what you are learning with any conviction and effectiveness.

(c) REFLECTION: What questions did reading this book raise in your mind? Simply list three or four of them. Make sure they relate directly to the MATERIAL CONTENT of the book NOT to the experience(s) you have just described in b.

(d) ACTION: All ministry related learning MUST lead to acts of ministry--whether through transformation of your inner person or your acquiring of useful knowledge or skills. Here describe what you simply must DO if you keep faith with what you have now discovered as a result if reading this book. Include BOTH PRESENT actions you must take and actions related to your FUTURE practice of ministry.
C. Participation in a group which will research a particular aspect of spiritual mapping in relation to the city of Wilmore.

D. A Final Project consisting of ONE of the following:

1. A 15-20 page (double-spaced typed) research paper directly related to the subject of spiritual warfare (include at least 20 sources in your bibliography).

2. Two 8-10 page book reviews (choose books from the bibliography or books that Dr. Seamands has approved). In the first half of your review (4-5 pages doublespaced typed) summarize the content and the flow of the book. In the second half of your review (4-5 pages) critically evaluate the book in terms of its strengths and weaknesses.

3. Three 5-7 page (double-spaced typed) manuscript sermons directly related to the subject of spiritual warfare. Make sure that these are “biblical sermons” (i.e. sermons which expound the chosen text) and not merely “Christian sermons” (i.e. sermons which are Christian in content but are only indirectly related to the chosen text).

4. A series of 6-8 Studies or Lessons or Training Sessions directly related to the subject of spiritual warfare. Make sure you write out in full at least three of the lessons. The others should be thoroughly outlined. You should also indicate the age level your study is aimed at.

E. Attend Workshop on Prayer and Spiritual Warfare led by Tom White (March 9, 7-10 pm. and March 10, 9 am – 4:30 pm in McKenna Chapel.

Course grade will be based on evaluation of 4-Mats (20%), group project (20%), and final project (60%).
