PLANTING NEW CHURCHES

I. INTRODUCTION AND COURSE DESCRIPTION
Welcome to “Planting New Churches” for the fall semester, 2005. I am Ron Crandall, Professor of Evangelism in the E. Stanley Jones School. This is a course I love to teach and have been teaching for over 20 years. The course is designed to provide an orientation to the theological, sociological, and practical dimensions of starting new churches—primarily in North America. We will also take a brief look at case studies and church multiplication opportunities in other lands. There will be a definite emphasis on the “how to” and on the diversity of models being successfully employed today. Several new church planters and denominational leaders in this work will be with us in class to share their insights and lessons.

II. COURSE OBJECTIVES
With the much welcomed and long overdue renewal of interest in the new congregational development by many denominations, we intend to provide students with the best literature and insights available for successful leadership in this critical ministry of church planting. By the conclusion of the course, students should be able to:

1. Articulate a biblical, historical and cultural rationale for church planting.
2. Understand the significance and alternative strategies for building a core group.
3. Clarify their personality profiles, core values and ministry action plans.
4. Use demographic data to design culturally appropriate forms of evangelism, worship, discipleship, and leader development.
5. Plan for a church multiplication movement, not just a single new church plant.
6. Access a wide variety of helpful resources on the internet.
7. Feel part of a network of church planters around the country and around the world.

In short, students will be ready to support others in new church planting efforts or begin a new church ministry of their own starting with day one.

III. PROCEDURE AND COURSE REQUIREMENTS
The course consists of weekly class sessions meeting Tuesday evenings from 6 to 9:00.

- Classes will include lectures, videos, discussion, personal research, and guest resource leaders.
- Readings, both required and collateral are considered part of the curriculum and a final reading record must be turned in on a "Reading Record" form (attached) by Dec. 13th along with a Class Notebook. One point will be lost for each 50 pages not completed.
- A Course Project OR take-home final exam will be due on Dec. 6th.

Any student absent for more than one class period will need to read 100 extra pages for the class missed, complete a reading report on the material, and consult with the professor regarding other possible assignments.
A. READING REQUIREMENTS (25% of Grade)
   The following are required texts and a 1 and 1/2 to 2 page single spaced reading report must be completed on each:

   In addition to required reading, at least 300 pages of collateral reading must be read from the texts listed below or other materials approved by the professor. Materials read previously cannot be counted as collateral for this course.

   30. George Hunter, Church for the Unchurched, 1996

   AND various materials from the internet, the library, or denominational sources.

B. THE NOTEBOOK (25% of Grade) DUE 12/13/05
Each student will need to prepare and hand in a notebook either as hard copy or on CD. Included should be:

1. Copies of your completed reading reports on required texts and similar notes on all additional reading completed following the same format,
2. Notes on all classes—not just the supplied Powerpoint slides,
3. Sample pages of at least 20 websites contacted,
4. A collection of copied articles, additional research outside of class, correspondence, etc., and
5. Thoroughness, orderliness, and appearance (a table of contents and/or tabs help). Each category is worth 5 points.

C. CLASS PROJECT (50% of Grade) DUE 12/06/04
Each student will be responsible for a class project and a written report 12-15 pages double-spaced (OR a take home final examination—see below) due the last day of class. The papers should have a title page and follow acceptable standards of form and style. The following projects are considered to be most helpful, but other projects may be accepted after consultation with the professor.

1. Create your own Ministry Action Plan following a process outlined in class. This can be for any ministry context and is not restricted to a new church.

2. Explore Multi-ethnic Church Planting by creating an annotated bibliography and extensive web search for current resources and new multi-ethnic congregations. From readings, web sites, and interviews (phone, in person, email) describe the best contexts and approaches to this undertaking and ways to avoid potential problems.

3. Choose a political area (a county, city, census tract, etc.) and study the census and/or current demographic reports. Compare this with earlier demographic studies or census for trends. Identify and interview at least one knowledgeable person who can interpret trends being noted and projected for the next decade. Then, do a "windshield survey" and identify at least one tract or other section of your area "ripe" for new church development. Write a simulated (or actual) proposal for such development to your judicatory office and make your case. Copy it to your professor.

4. Participate in a community survey seeking out the unchurched in a neighborhood or area. Evaluate their receptivity and identify basic human, social, and spiritual needs. Project the kinds of ministries and emphases that would best reach these people for Christ if a new church were to be started. Give a brief description of how you would plant a new church in this area, including your Ministry Action Plan.

5. Work with and interview a local pastor and/or denominational official involved in new church development. Evaluate the experience and report on lessons learned, contributions made, recommendations, etc.

6. Interview three new church planting pastors and at least two lay persons in each church. Write up your interviews in the form of three case studies not to exceed five double-spaced typed pages each. Include in each case study the basic historical, demographic and statistical information, problems faced, special awareness of God's presence, special gifts and emphases of the pastor, and other similar ingredients emphasized in our texts or in class.

6. Write or phone your own church extension board or agency requesting all available information on preparing you for a church-planting ministry. Write up an evaluation of their program and materials including such matters as alternative models for new churches, cross-cultural and ethnic minority focus, mission opportunities, the relationship of your polity to successful new church development, etc.

D. FINAL EXAMINATION (50% of Grade)

Students may elect to complete a take home final examination in place of one of the projects above. The exam will be available on November 15th and will be due on Tuesday, December 6th, in class. Five questions will be selected from a larger field and turned in as a typed double spaced paper of 12 to 15 pages (2 to 3 pages per answer).

IV. PROPOSED SCHEDULE

Grading Policies:

Attendance Policy — If you miss more than 3 classes, you will not receive a passing grade. Asbury Seminary defines grades using the following criteria (catalog, p. 24):

A= Exceptional work: outstanding or surpassing achievement of course objectives
B= Good work: strong, significant achievement of course objectives
C= Acceptable work: essential achievement of course objectives
D= Marginal work: minimal or inadequate achievement of course objectives
F= Unacceptable work: failure to achieve course objectives

A plus (+) or minus (−) indicates positions between categories (for example, B+ = very good; C− = slightly below acceptable, etc.).

When all is said and done and all the grades are averaged together, here is the final scale of measurement:

100-96= A
76-74 = C
Grading Process

The Asbury Seminary School of Theology faculty has adopted the following standards for faculty grading of papers:

♦ Timely feedback: For assessment of student work during the course of the academic term, the expectation of “timely” feedback is met when students have their work marked, graded, and returned within one week of its submission. Moreover, when assignment “B” builds on assignment “A,” assignment “A” should be returned before assignment “B” falls due. Longer due at the end of the term are not subject to this definition.

♦ Substantive feedback: For assessments of student work during the course of the academic term, the expectation of “substantive” feedback is met when students receive responses that alert them to what they have done well and how they might improve their performance in subsequent work.

Grading Guidelines

Grading guidelines are contained within each assignment and grading form in this syllabus. If you review the assignment before you begin your work then you will know the expectations that I will use to evaluate your work.

Late Assignments and Papers

A paper or assignment that is late without prior permission from the instructor receives a grade but no written comments. Late papers are penalized with a 1 point reduction for each day that the paper is late.

Incomplete Policy

A grade of "I" denotes course work has not been completed due to an unavoidable emergency, which does not include failure to turn in course work or attending to church work or other employment. See the Asbury Seminary Catalog for further clarification.
Each text you evaluate for the required reading and the material you include in the reading notes section of your notebook should be evaluated and critiqued in an expanded version of the abbreviated form below.

Book Title ________________________________  Author ________________

Evaluation: 1 (low) – 10 (high) ____
Elaborate citing strengths & weaknesses:

Summary of text or article and its major sections:

What new insights have you gained from reading this text? (Cite pages or chapters)

Where do you find yourself strongly agreeing or disagreeing with the author?

What are some ministry applications of these insights?

What are some issues, concerns, or questions this reading has prompted you to consider researching in greater depth?
