

Asbury Theological Seminary

ePLACE: preserving, learning, and creative exchange

Welsh Revival

Hannah Whital Smith

1983

Box 11_38 (Welsh Revival, 1904)

ATS Special Collections and Archives

Follow this and additional works at: <https://place.asburyseminary.edu/hswwelchrevival>

Part of the Christianity Commons

The Welsh Revival.

On Thursday evening the Rev. Thomas Phillips, B.A., of Norwich, addressed a large gathering at the Metropolitan Tabernacle on the subject of the Welsh Revival. He has visited South Wales twice to investigate the movement for himself, and his personal experiences greatly interested the audience. It was while sitting in one of the meetings that the Rev. Thomas Spurgeon's telegram reached him asking him to speak on the subject at the Tabernacle. This evening Mr. Phillips will address a similar meeting at Christ Church, Westminster, at the special request of the Rev. F. B. Meyer. His second visit to the scene of the Revival both confirmed and enlarged the views expressed in his recent articles in "The Baptist Times," which excited great interest in religious circles.

The Welsh Revival.

Sir,—The striking reports from day to day from the scenes of the present Welsh revival are extremely interesting reading, and your correspondent "T. Breewood," certainly hits the nail on the head when he says, "England needs a true revival to lift the people out of their present deep-seated callousness."

In your character-sketch of Mr. Roberts to-day you show him as earnest, and speaking from deep conviction.

Therein lies the whole power of his mission. If our preachers of to-day could all speak with simple conviction in telling forth "the unsearchable riches of Christ," we should soon see such a mighty upheaval of religious enthusiasm and fervour throughout the land as would gladden the heart of the most ardent revivalist.

—Yours, etc.,

THOMAS F. ROWLATT.

Bedford-street, St. Neots, Dec. 16.