

Asbury Theological Seminary

ePLACE: preserving, learning, and creative exchange

Correspondence

Hannah Whitall Smith

1983

Box 1_14 Correspondence Fowler, Emmato French, Thomas 1880-1910)

ATS Special Collections and Archives

Follow this and additional works at: <https://place.asburyseminary.edu/hwscorrespondence>

Part of the Christianity Commons

Return

An old Quaker preacher. 2 mo 9. 05

My dear Friend.

It's hardly likely thee remember me, but I have good cause to remember thee, & thy dear Husb^d who thankfully helped me in 1874-5 - as you doubtless were favoured to do * in the lives of many more!
I've just been enjoying thy Book * & it seemed almost like hearing thee speak - the same down-right, positive assertions of what thee knew, by thy own experience, to be true - Certainly, my life & the lives of some very near & dear, have been brightened & stre^{ngthened}, ever since you came to us those many

"The Unselfishness of God" years ago! at Stoke Newington - I am very nearly 83 now - & can indeed say "Surely Goodness & mercy, have followed me all the days of my life." - having had trials, ^{too} like thee!

- dearest ones preceding us to "the House of the LVRD," where we hope, is it too much to say with a certain hope?
to dwell with them "for ever"!
/ I'd love to speak with thee on some of these holy themes
- but if not permitted, while here below, we shall, I hum-bly trust, bye & bye -

Farewell for a little while Thy loving friend
Sarah J. J. Fox.

I am living at present with my dear 4th Son & his family
Dr^r Richard Hington Fox
20 Gordon Square
London
W.C.