

Asbury Theological Seminary

ePLACE: preserving, learning, and creative exchange

Correspondence

Hannah Whitall Smith

1983

Box 3_13 (Correspondence- Willard, Frances 1877-1889)

ATS Special Collections and Archives

Follow this and additional works at: <https://place.asburyseminary.edu/hwscorrespondence>

Part of the Christianity Commons

See page 614 of Miss Willard's book

2

As to plan of work in 146 psalm.

Take "The Lord preserveth
the stranger
that means friendly
Drums, Temp. restau
rants, Reading Rooms etc

to invitations to visit places. That haunts
the sups of strangers.
"The Lord turneth the way of the wicked
upside down". That means Prohibition. Consumption. Home Protection.

& so on. I want the women
to see the sacredness
of our plans &
work. Take your Bible & other
National Minutes
& compare 17-8-9 - verses of 146 ps. with

evolution of our plans

3

evolution of our plans & you'll see an eye-
opening

"Evolution".

"The Lord Looseth
the prisoners" (that means Murphy's
Blue & Reynolds's
Red Ribbon move must - both direct out growth of Cynsade etc etc

I like all the "opemings" & we will take them over
"at length". I like the discarding
of "special providence" & enforcement of the eternal nowness & nearness of our
God. I like
Dana Walcott's ideas.
He's a marvel. Will fearin' we'll go over this all. Will meet