2012

The Joireman Collection

Evangelical Advocacy: A Response to Global Poverty

Follow this and additional works at: http://place.asburyseminary.edu/engaginggovernmentbibliographies

Part of the African Studies Commons, Behavioral Economics Commons, Economic Policy Commons, Labor Economics Commons, Latin American Studies Commons, Other Public Affairs, Public Policy and Public Administration Commons, Political Economy Commons, Politics Commons, and the Social Welfare Commons

Recommended Citation

http://place.asburyseminary.edu/engaginggovernmentbibliographies/6

This Document is brought to you for free and open access by the Christians Engaging Government at ePLACE: preserving, learning, and creative exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in Bibliographies by an authorized administrator of ePLACE: preserving, learning, and creative exchange. For more information, please contact thad.horner@asburyseminary.edu.
The Joireman Collection

The Joireman collection is a list of bibliographic resources gathered by political scientists to examine the relationship between religion and politics as seen from within several Christian traditions: Evangelical, Pentecostals, Anglican, Reformed, Lutheran, and Roman Catholic. The list comes from the book Church, State, and Citizen: Christian Approaches to Political Engagement edited and contributed by Sandra F. Joireman.

This provocative volume illuminates a dimension of John Wesley's theology that has received insufficient attention: his deep and abiding commitment to the poor. By focusing on the radical nature of Wesley's "evangelical economics," Theodore W. Jennings, Jr., provides an important corrective to the view that Wesley was concerned with the salvation of souls only, and not also with the social conditions of human beings.

