Catalog Description
A study of selected passages in Johannine Literature, this course will deal with the various textural, historical, rhetorical, exegetical, theological, and ethical concerns raised in the Gospel and Letters of John. The focus in the course will be on familiarizing the student not only with the content of this book, but also with the exegetical and hemeneutical issues that it raised and raises.
Prerequisite: NT(IBS)510 or 511; NT520; and NT500 or 501/502 or equivalent.
(May be taken by students in M.A. programs not requiring Greek by special arrangement with the professor.)

Introduction
The Johannine Literature makes up approximately one third of the New Testament. It includes four different genre of literature-- a Gospel, epistles, a homily, and a book of apocalyptic prophecy. This course explores segments of these differing types of Johannine literature, seeking to consider both the differences and the similarities.
Pre-requisites: NT 500 or 501/502, and IBS-- 1

Course Objectives
Having successfully completed this course, participants should:
(1) be able to recognize the importance of a close reading of the text of John, 1,2,3, John, and Revelation
(2) be able to begin to master the skills necessary to exegete the Greek text of these NT documents;
(3) grasp the importance of the structure of these works and their importance for understanding Johannine Christology;
(4) understand the role of the these works in the New Testament canon;
(5) be able to propose fruitful ways in which Johannine literature may be read within the horizons of the contemporary church and world;

Course Requirements and Reading

On questions of style, especially with regard to paper organization and references, see Carol Slade, Form and Style: Research Papers, Reports, Theses, 11th ed. (New York: Houghton Mifflin, 2000).

Students should submit written materials on time; late papers will receive no written comments and the grade will be penalized one-third of a grade per day.

(1) Class Preparation, Attendance, and Participation: Participants should prepare for each class session by (1) carefully reading the assigned texts in the Johannine Literature (see the reading schedule, below), (2) taking notes on the text, and (3) comparing their observations with those in at least one of the following commentaries. Witherington, Ben, Jesus the Seer, (Peabody: Hendrickson, 1999), hb.

Attendance at all sessions of the course is expected. In order to complete the course with a passing grade. Excused absences are impossible in such an intensive course.

(2) A Critical Review: A review of Jesus the Seer, approximately 1300-1600 words (i.e., 5-6 pages, with a standard 12-point font like Times New Roman and one-inch margins) in length, typed, double-spaced. Due at the beginning of class, July 8th. As a critical review, this essay should summarize the author's central theses; demonstrate the author's approach to the subject matter; and critique the author's analysis (e.g., with regard to the author's method, its faithfulness to the primary materials, its engagement with the wider discussion on the topic, and so on).
