MEDICAL DILEMMAS AND THE CHURCH
(A COURSE IN BIOETHICS)
CS 635
Monday & Wednesday 1:00 - 2:20

James R. Thobaben, Ph.D., M.P.H.
ASBURY THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY
Office Hours: M 2:30 - 3:30, T 1:30 - 3:30, W 2:30 - 3:30 & by appointment
Office location: McPheeters Center 307
Office phone number: 858-2369 Home phone number: 858-8058

PURPOSE:
To prepare students for ministry by training them to analyze and address issues in medical ethics and health care from a Christian perspective. To develop ministers who are responsive to the needs, contexts, and insights of parishioners and members of the larger community who are patients, family members of patients, or practitioners. To enable ministers to equip their congregations for understanding their moral responsibility in decisions about the delivery and receiving of health care and the impact of social decisions in health care on the broader community.

OBJECTIVES:
- To provide a theological basis for understanding and interpreting health issues.
- To introduce various historical and contemporary Christian interpretations of medical ethics issues.
- To teach the vocabulary of ethical analysis, specifically medical ethics.
- To introduce approaches to social analysis for use in understanding health care.
- To consider how responses to medical ethics problems shape society.
- To consider how responses to medical ethics problems impact congregational life and pastoral care.

TEXTS:
Beauchamp & Walters, Contemporary Issues in Bioethics
Other material to be distributed or on reserve.

EXPECTATIONS:
Written Work: The theme papers will 5 – 7 pages in length on the three themes listed below with one being open to student choice.

#1 (Due 3/15) Is health care a right? Explain your position. Include consideration of ethical theory and alternative positions.

#2 (Due 4/12) Describe a Christian position (consistent with Wesleyan evangelicalism) on the suicide of the critically ill. Assume that the position you present will serve as the basis for a sermon or Sunday School class following the death of a parishioner’s family member who commits suicide while chronically, but not near-term terminally, ill. Do not focus on counseling issues, but on moral reasoning.

#3 (Due 4/26) Open topic, but must focus on ethics, not counseling or pastoral care.
All of the reading assigned for a week reading is to be completed by Monday. Some discussions may "spill over" to the next Monday. The assigned reading is still to be completed on time. Students will be asked at the end of the semester if all reading has been completed on time.

Students with experience in healthcare may opt for a single 17-18 page paper on a bioethics topic. This option must be approved by and the topic selected in conversation with the professor. Paper is due 4/26.

All written work must be typed with 12 point type, one inch margins on all four sides, and true double spacing. Do not include substantial quotes from Scripture; use citations. All references must be noted properly; include page numbers. Follow page limit requirements. Required length of paper does not include reference or title pages. Papers are due at the beginning of class. There will be a penalty for late papers commensurate with the degree of lateness and the adequacy of the excuse. All written work must use inclusive language when reference is made to human beings (male and female). This provides for both greater inclusion and greater precision. For more information on this topic see ‘Suggestions for Using Inclusive Language’, available in the Dean of Student’s Office.

Papers are graded anonymously. Each paper should include a title page with the student’s name and SPO number. All subsequent pages should include only the SPO number, written in the top right corner.

Final Examination: A one-hour, in-class final. Part of the exam will be an objective examination over concepts in medical ethics and part will be a response to a case study. The exam will be given during finals week at 1:00 pm on Wednesday or other time designated by the Registrar. As with the papers, the exam will be graded anonymously.

Participation: Students are required to complete all assigned readings. Acknowledgement of completion will be sought the last day of class. Failure to complete readings on time may result in a lowering of the final grade, as will poor attendance for class. Attendance will be taken. The deduction for low participation and/or late or incomplete reading of assigned material will be up to 10% against the final grade (a full letter grade reduction).
