DO 690
THEOLOGY OF JOHN WESLEY
J Term
January 19-23, 2004
Robert G. Tuttle, Jr., Ph.D.

Course Description:

John Wesley was a great theologian, but theology was not his greatest strength. John Wesley was a great preacher, but preaching was not his greatest strength. Wesley’s real contribution to the 18th century and to the Church as a whole seemed to be in his ability to organize people into the kind of body that would both sustain them and the movement called the 18th Century Evangelical Revival. With this clearly in mind, how did John Wesley function as a theologian/evangelist so that his real strength could be manifested practically in the life of the Church? What were his motivating principles? Where did he come out with regard to the basic doctrines of the Church? In short, how did Wesley “do” theology so that he might become a man called of God to change the history of a nation?

Learning Goals:

This course will seek to equip students:
1. To identify the formative influences upon the Wesley brothers that helped shape the theology of the Methodist movement;
2. To articulate the so-called “Wesleyan quadrilateral” as a model of authority within the life of contemporary Methodism;
3. To describe how Wesleyan theology revolves around the over-arching theme of grace;
4. To discuss the “synthetic” nature and method of early Methodist theology;
5. To articulate the distinctive Wesleyan “way of salvation,” demonstrating a well-developed understanding of repentance, faith, and holiness;
6. To demonstrate the significance of the Christian life as a “way of devotion” and how accountable discipleship informs Christian ministry;
7. To discuss how Wesleyan theology was translated into the life of the church, its sacraments, and ministry;
8. To evaluate one's Christian vocation in the light of the Wesleyan theological heritage.

Textbooks:

Required:
AS MUCH OF THE REQUIRED READING AS POSSIBLE SHOULD BE DONE BEFORE CLASS BEGINS.

Requirements and Evaluation:

1. Critiques: (30%). Each student must complete a one page single-spaced critique for each of the required texts: Collins, Harper, and Tuttle. The critiques must be completed no later than Friday, January 23.
2. Paper: (30%). One paper (approximately 6-8 pages) on some pertinent events in Wesley’s life or with some theological issue pertaining to the Revival. Due TBA.
3. Final Examination (40%). This will be a one hour essay exam on the last day of class (Jan. 23).
4. A daily journal of ideas, reflections, thoughts. The purpose is to provide a means of self-expression, in which each person can write about whatever comes to mind as important. Honesty and unambiguous statement of thoughts are central, and will serve as a means of growing in self-understanding and clarity of thought and expression. These will not be read by the professor, unless requested by the student. They will not be graded, but the keeping of the journal is a major assignment for the course.

Final Exam Study Guide:

1. Discuss the formative influences upon the Wesley brothers that helped to shape the theology of the early Methodist movement.

2. John Wesley’s theology is sometimes described as a “theology of grace.” What does he mean by grace, and how is Methodist doctrine shaped by this over-arching theme?

3. Wesleyan theology has been described in class as an expression of “living faith.” Discuss the “synthetic” nature of this theology with reference to two characteristic conjunctions.

4. Describe Wesley’s so-called “order of salvation.”

5. The Wesleys viewed the Christian life as a “way of devotion.” What does this mean and how does this understanding influence your conception of ministry?

6. The Wesleyan Revival was both evangelical and sacramental. Discuss.

7. The “means of grace” figured prominently in early Methodism. What are these means, and what continued relevance do they have for the life of the church today?

8. Describe the so-called “Wesleyan quadrilateral” as a model of authority within the life of contemporary Methodism.

9. Personal piety and social action are necessary components of Christian vocation from the Wesleyan perspective. Discuss.

10. How can Wesleyan theology be translated into the life of the church, its sacraments, and ministry today?
