1-1-2005

MW 780 Comparative Missiology

Terry C. Muck

Follow this and additional works at: http://place.asburyseminary.edu/syllabi

Recommended Citation
http://place.asburyseminary.edu/syllabi/2858
MW780 Comparative Missiology
Thursday, 6:00 – 9:00 pm

Room: Instructo
Instructor: Terry C. Muck
Phone: 858-2145  E-Mail: terry_muck@asburyseminary.edu
Office Hours: Wednesday 2:00 – 4:00 or by appointment

Required Texts:
Readings as assigned by instructor

Requirements:
1. Attendance and participation in all classes.
2. Reading of assigned texts and articles.
3. Lead one (1), one-hour discussion of week’s assigned readings.
5. Write a five-page paper on the self-advocacy role of each religion or religious group discussed: Hinduism, Buddhism, Chinese religions, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Indigenous religions, New religious movements, Atheism/secularism. Due at the class time of each group discussed.
6. Final take home exam to be scheduled.

Description:
This course examines how the religions of the world self-advocate, that is, attempt to promote themselves to their children and to those in other religious traditions and to those with no religion. Nine different religions or religious categories will be examined: Hinduism, Buddhism, Chinese religions, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Indigenous religions, New religious movements, Atheism/secularism. After a study of these religions and how they “do mission/evangelism,” students will then consider the Christian missiological implications of the way other religions are promoting themselves in the world today.

Course Objectives:
1. Students will be able to write 300 word summaries of the way each of the nine religious traditions studied during the semester promote themselves to non-adherents.
2. Students will be able to do field research into a religion’s worship practice and behavior.
3. Students will be able to compare and contrast the way Christians do mission with the way other religious traditions do mission.
4. Students will be able to devise mission strategies to other religions depending on the nature of the competition in discrete contexts.