Note: I will be using internet resources that will complement the readings through the use of primary sources. The following are various excellent sources that I use and that also provide links to other primary and secondary sources. They are: "The Hall of Church History" and Internet Medieval Sourcebook. For Ante-Nicene, Nicene and Post-Nicene primary documents see The Christian Classics Ethereal Library at: <http://www.ccel.org/>. The Ecole Initiative contains a vast array of early church documents. See: <http://www2.evansville.edu/ecoleweb/documents.html> and <http://ecole.evansville.edu/imagesA.html#athana> for an index of images. On Luther see also <http://www.iclnet.org/pub/resources/text/wittenberg/wittenberg-boc.html#lca>

Course Description

This course is the second part of a two-semester study that intends to introduce students to the development of the Christian Church from the Protestant Reformation to the Modern Era. Our emphasis will be placed upon central historical figures, movements and theological issues, with attention given to their relevance for our ministry today. Emphasis will be placed upon important primary texts, as well as interpretive studies.
